the city

Barcelona is a truly enchanting and vibrant Spanish city that allures tourists from the world over. The architecture, the culture, the history, the art, the people, the football (European) and delicious food has been packaged into one city that is Barcelona. The city happens to be Spain's most visited and for good reason. For the most part, it is a coming together of the old and the new, and has the best of both worlds.

From an architectural perspective, Barcelona is a treasure trove spanning over 2000 years and more. Its Roman influence can be found at the ancient city walls and towering temple columns. The city's Gothic quarter is home to 14th century cathedrals while the other parts of the city boast of several sculptural masterpieces. For the avid art enthusiasts, there are many museums that exhibit some of the finest works by Dali, Picasso and many others. Rich culture and history meets modern fashion and trends in a way you will be hard pressed to find anywhere else in the world. The street life in Barcelona is probably the liveliest in the world. Performers, vendors, and all sorts of entertainers can be seen doing what they do best. The buildings in Barcelona are seldom taller than nine storeys. Seemingly, Barcelonans do not like to distance themselves too far up from the streets because that is where all the action is. Barcelona also likes to stay up late and party. For the pub or club hopper the city is definitely a winner. Even restaurants and eateries only start filling up at around 9-10pm. When it comes to industries, Barcelona is the forerunners in several different industries including "smart green" technologies, medical research and even hospitality. The locals are creative, witty and energetic. This Gothic and modernist city situated just off the Mediterranean Sea offers a lot of activities for tourists and locals alike. Shopping, nightlife, sightseeing, sport, music festivals and concerts will keep you occupied and well entertained.

how to get to Barcelona

Taxi

Upon arrival in Barcelona airport (T1 or T2), you can either take a taxi to your hotel (28-35€) or you can use public transport (very easy in Barcelona)

Subway

Another option will be to take subway Line 9 which connects Barcelona airport (terminals 1 and 2) to the city. The last stop at this stage of development is Zona Universitària, which connects to the green line (L3).

Aerobus

Another option is taking a bus (express bus Aerobus) dropping you at Plaça Espanya. The cost of Airbus is of 5.90€ one-way and 10.2€ outbound and return tickets (<http://www.aerobusbcn.com/en/buy-tickets>)

From Plaça Espanya you can take subway (Line 3 (green Line and Line 1 (red line) to reach your place (depending on the option you choose for the accommodation). Please note that it is better purchasing a 10-trip ticket (less than 10 euros) as a single journey costs more than 3 euros.

Tren

Depending on which terminal you are reaching (there are only 2 terminals), if Terminal 1 you can take the shuttle bus to Terminal 2, where you can take the train departing from there and dropping you at Barcelona-Sants Estació.
